Carlton Oaks has been a local landmark since 1958 and has undergone several major enhancements and design changes throughout the years. Located just 20 minutes from downtown San Diego, it is close to the city's most popular tourist attractions.

The course is one of the finest tests of golf in San Diego County. In 2003, the yardage was increased to 7,225 yards. The beautiful, well-manicured course is as challenging as it is competitive. With five sets of tees that range from 5,044 yards from the red tees with a course rating of 70.0/125 slope, 7,225 yards with a course rating of 75.2/146 slope, to the tournament tees, the course will test any player from your high handicap to your scratch golfer looking to break par.

The uneven lies, rolling hills, deep head high bunkers, fairway length waste bunkers, 400 mature oak trees, a meandering creek and wind that always seems to be in your face challenge a player's ability to post a good score. Water comes into play on most holes with three lakes and two creeks gently winding through the course. A true Dye-designed course, complete with his signature railroad ties, collection areas, and undulating greens are all characteristics that make your visit to Carlton Oaks more enjoyable. The pitching, chipping and putting greens, along with new balls on the driving range, all prepare you to play one of the finest tests of golf in San Diego County.
